Valuable Real Estate for Sale.

PURSUANT to the last Will and Testament of the late Col. RICHARD BROWN, deceased, I NOW OFFER FOR SALE,

The Farm on which he resided,

On the Ohio River, in Holliday's Cove, in Brook County, Virginia.

This Estate consists of about 700 Acres of Land, 250 of which is a rich Island, the remainder principally second bottom and upland; that part of the upland which is not tillable, is covered with timber suitable for furnishing the Island and tillable part with fencing and building timber. There is between 150 and 200 acres cleared and under cultivation, a suitable proportion of which is good meadow land. The buildings consist in two log dwelling houses and a log barn with under story of stone. It is well supplied with very fine springs of good water.

The situation of this property on the Ohio River, five miles from the flourishing Town of Steubenville, and in the neighbourhood of several Merchant Mills, Iron Works, &c. renders it a desirable object to a person who would wish to farm extensively, as he would probably at all times find a good market at his door for the produce of his farm. A part of the purchase will be required in hand, and for the remainder a reasonable credit will be given.

HALKET'S BRIGADE.

From Simpson's Visit to Flanders.

Unable to break in upon the square by open force, a commanding officer of cuirassiers tried a ruse-de-guerre; he lowered his sword to General Halket, several of the officers called out, "Sir, they surrender." "Be firm and fire," was the promptly obeyed answer. The general justly suspected an offer of surrender to a body of infantry, fixed to the spot in a defensive position by a body of cavalry, who had the option of galloping off with all the plain open behind them. The volley sent the colonel and his cuirassiers as usual about, with a laugh of derision from the men he had meant to cut in pieces; and many a ring from their balls upon the back pieces of the mails.

This gallant brigade was honored with several visits from the illustrious chief. In one he enquired "How they were?" The answer was, that two thtrds of their numbers were down, and that the rest were so exhausted, that leave to retire, even for a short time, was much desirable; that some of the foreign corps, who had not suffered, might take their place. General G. was told that the issue depended on the steady unflinching front of the British troops; and that even a change of place was hazardous in the extreme. He impressively said—"Enough, my lord, WE STAND HERE TILL THE LAST MAN FALLS."

One anecdote more of this glorious brigade I cannot withhold. I have no apology to make for the length of my narrative; I feel that every one who reads of Waterloo, will agree with me in opinion, that it is impossible to dwell too long upon the engrossing theme. A gleam of the gentler affections is hailed with tenfold sympathy, when for a moment it gilds an interval of the empire of the sterner virtues in the warrior's bosom. It is like the breathing of the softest flute after the clang of a thousand trumpets: or the downy contact of the halcyon's breast which still the stormy sea* In the midst of their dangers, this band of heroes had their attention called to a very affecting scene of private friendship. Two of the officers were the more closely attached to each other as they were not on terms of perfect good understanding with the rest of the mess; owing to their having opposed some arrangements which the rest thought expedient, but which it was expected would be attended with some expense; and at the same time concealed most honorably, the real grounds of their opposition to the general voice; that besides their own families, they had each two sisters to support; a consideration which assured they could not have pleaded in vain. The similarity of their circumstances most naturally cemented their friendship; which was quite a bye-word in the regiment. After doing their duty calmly through nearly the whole of the murderous day they found themselves unhurt at a late hour in the evening; when one of them playfully called to the other, who stood at a little distance "I always told you they would never hit me. They never did it in Spain, and they have not done it to-day." He had hardly spoke when he was shot dead on the spot. His friend stood for a few moments motionless; then burst into tears: flew to the body, threw himself down beside it, and sobbed over it, inarticulately repeating several times, "My only friend!" The officer who related the affecting story told me, that so completely did the scene overcome every one who witnessed it, that there was not a dry eye among them.

There was not wanting some striking instances of individual heroism at Waterloo.

General Halket had a brother in the field who was colonel of a Hanoverian corps, or a regiment of the German legion. A trait of spirit is related of him which has few examples in modern warfare; and is not exceeded by the far-famed achievement of Robert Bruce in his short combat with Sir Henry Bohun in that memorable battle, which stood foremost on history's brightest page, till Waterloo was fought. A French geneal was giving his orders with great confidence to a large body of French troops; and had come to their front unattended. Colonel Halket made a dash at him, having seized a favourable opportunity, at full gallop: and, putting a pistol to his breast, seized his horse's reins, and brc't him off from the very beards of his wonder-struck soldiers! I had the good fortune to spend an evening at the Hague with the mother and sister of these gallant men; from whom, it is needless to observe, I heard not one word of their deeds, which were quite new to me when I arrived at Brussels.

I had seen, as formerly mentioned, a young officer at Antwerp, who had received 24 sabre wounds. The 69th, his regiment, with another, was the square next on the right to general Halket's.—In one of their formations the French cavalry was unfortunately too soon up for them, penetrated into the midst of them and almost cut them to pieces.

* Burke, in his bold figurative language, compared the kinder affections to "the soft green of the soul on which the eye loves to repose."

BOSTON, August 28.

By the ship Courier we have complete fiiles of London papers to tfie 19tth July, evening, and lists to the 14th. We have also Paris papers to the latter part of June.

We do not speak too generally when we say ALL EUROPE enjoyed at the last date a state of profound peace.

To France the remark peculiarly applies All the reiterated predictions of the enemies of the Bourbons have proved "false and hollow;" and of all the failing mauufactures in Europe, those of revolt and alarm appeared most declining.

We need not allude to any other part of the continent,—not even to Spain, for an exception to the above remark.

In England, things were unusually quiet. The public debt was rapidly diminishing—public stocks rising; and specie so plenty, that a Spanish dollar would command only 97 cents in Bank bills. Manufacturers every where experienced a failure of business.

The expedition against Algiers was nearly ready for sailing.

PARIS, June 14.

The following is a list of the foreign embassadors now at the Court of Louis 18th, and comprises some of the most illustrious personages, either for militay or civil reputation, that the world can produce:—

From England, Sir Charles Stewart.
Austria, Baron Vincent.
Baden, Baron Ferette.
Bavaria, M. Pictet de Roshemont. Ch. d'Affairs.
Denmark, Gen. Watersdorff, Envoy Extra'ry.
Spain, Count Pamela.
Hambourg, M, Abel, residary.
Hanover, Count de Grotte.
Mecklenbourgh Schueren, M. d. Oerthling.
Netherlads, Baron Fagel.
Portugal, Ch. Brito.
Prussia, Count Pozzo-di-Borgo.
Sardinia, Marquis de Softegno.
Saxony, Baron d' Uchtritz.
Two Sicilies, Prince Castelcicala.
Norway and Sweden, M. de Signeul.
Swiss Cantons, M. de Tschaum.
Tuscany, Ch. de Karchar.
Turkey, M. Angelos.
Wurtemburgh, M. de Shwarts.

PVRIS, Juue 18.

The Princess CAROLINE, Duchess of Berri, is equally celebrated for her comeliness and cheerfulnes, and will lead the ton in gay life. She is rather pale and slender; but her features are regular and her whole person elegant. She and her Duke, are precisely in the same degree descended from Louis 14th, from Henry 4th. and Saint Louis, as the Duke and Duchess of Angouleme.—The latter will always remain the favorite of the King;—who introduces her as "his consoling angel."

The Protestant conventicles and the Jewish synagogues, were illuminated in celebration of the marriage of the Duke and Duchess of Berri, in common with the catholic churches.

LONDON, July 14.

Our letters from Paris say, that numbers of the French officers and civilians who have been proscribed or placed in Coventry have been restored to favour, or permitted to return to social life.—Amogst these are Marshals Davoust (Prince of Eckmuhl) and Suchet. It is also added, that Marshal SOULT, "appears on the horrizon with a military renown which far eclipses all competitors."—[Marshal Soult still walks lame from the wound he received in the leg in Gascony, at the termination of the war in the South of France.]

The sister of Marshal Soult has contradicted in the Paris papers, the report, that the Marshal had embarked for the United States, and declares that he has not ceased to reside at Dusseldorff.

LAUSANNI, June 22.

DREADFUL INUNDATION.

The devastations of which the Frickthal was the theatre the 14th of this month, have left horrible remembrances. The waters descended from the Jura with frightful impetuosity, and in such torrents that the brooks and the rivers rushing suddenly from their beds, laid waste the vallies of Schuptart and Mumpf. All the population of this last village was assembled in the church to appease Heaven; but the inundation quickly penetrating the sanctuary, hardly left time for the unfortunate inhabitants to escape to the roof and the tower. At the same moment a great number of buildings were destroyed, walls broke down, barns carried away, and strong bridges blown up; vast fields were covered with sand and stones, and for a long time would be useless. The Rhine at the same time presented a desolating spectacle, and proved that the same misfortune had happened elsewhere. It carried along with it trees rooted up, timber, furniture and drowned animals.—

The Valley of Wegenstein also suffered. In the Subzthal, all the hopes of the labourer have vanished; the gardens, meadows, and vineyards were ruined: the houses, fountains, aqueducts, and roads destroyed.

Several arrangements are in coures of progress, with a view to establish a respectable naval force upon the lakes of Canada. Sir Robert Hall, an officer of distinauished merit, who was lately commissioner of the navy yard of Quebec, is appointed to the command of the vessels upon the Lake. Their present force consists of—Tecumseh schr. lieut. H. Kent; Tagus, schooner, lieut. Hambly; Star, capt. Herbert, acting; Newash schooner, capt. W. Bourcnier, acting; Netley, 10, lieut. H. F. Spence; Montreal, capt. Edward Collier: Kingston, 24, capt. W. F. W. Owen; and Huron, lieut. J. Jackson. The St. Lawrence, 93; Durlingtou, 74; Charwell, 24; and Chubb cutter, are at present in ordinary. Several officers, and a number of seamen, will proceed shortly to the station.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Aug. 14.

It will be seen by the following letter from col. Clinch to the Executive of this state, that the fort on Appalichacola Bay, in East Florida, where the ruffian Nicolls commanded a motley force of British, Indians and Negroes during the late war, and which has since been occupied by runaway negroes and hostile Indians, was completely destroyed by our troops on the 27th ult. Mr. Hughes, the bearer of col. Clinch's letter to gov. Mitchell, and who accompanied the detachment of troops on that expedition states, that the celebrated chief M'Intosh, with a considerable number of Indians, had reached the fort and commenced an attack upon it, (which had continued several days) before the arrival of col. Clinch's detachment, The fire was returned by those in the fort, but no injury sustained on either side. While col. Clinch was erecting a battery to play on the fort, three of the gun boats from New Orleans arrived below it. In ascending the bay, 7 men who had landed from one of these boats, were attacked by the negroes, and six of them killed; the 7th made his escape by swimming. The gun boats having been brought up by order of col. Clinch opposite the fort, commenced firing on it with heavy ordnance. After the proper elevation of the gun had been ascertained by 3 or 4 discharges, a hot shot was fired, which, penetrating one of the three magazines, containing 100 barrels of powder created a dreadful explosion, which our informant supposes must have killed more than an hundred—the others were taken prisoners, witoout making further resistance.

Copy of a letter from Lieut. Col. Duncan L. Clinch, to his Excellency Governor Mitchell, dated Camp Crawford, Aug. 4, 1816.

SIR—I have the honor to inform you that on the 28th ult. the fort on the Appalachicola, in East Florida, defended by one hundred Negroes and Choctaws, and containing about 200 women and children, was completely destroyed. I have the honour to enclose you the names of the negroes taken, and at present in confinement at this post, who say they belong to citizens of the state of Georgia, I have given the chiefs directions, to have every negro that comes into the nation taken and delivered up to the commanding officer at this post, or at Fort Gaines.

From the Mediterranean.

Extract of a Letter from a Lieutenant of the American Navy, attached to the Mediterranean Squadron to his friend in Virginia.

"U. S. Ship Washington,
Gibraltar Bay July 6, 1816.

"I wrote you on the morning of our arrival, when I supposed we should not remain here more than twelve hours; some days, however, have elapsed, and we are still in Gibraltar. The Java arrived yesterday, and we are momentarily expecting to see the Constellation and Erie; this I presume accounts for our delay.

"Our minister, Mr Pinkney, is treated with much attention by the Governor, &c. and has dined on shore. The English officers seem disposed, on all accasions, to be very attentive; and I hope there is no desire on our part, not to reciprocate the feeling.

"The Dutch fleet, under Van Capell, consisting of four frigates and one sloop of war, is laying in the Bay; he has been off Algiers, but failed in the negociation, and is now waiting the arrival of a reinforcement from Holland, when he contemplates a second visit. The Dutch officers have also been very civil, and profess great friendship for the United States.

"I was this morning, introduced to the above Admiral, who appeared to be well acquainted with my character, as he said, from English accounts. He expressed much surprise to find me so young a man, saying, "it was no use for the Americans to go to sea to acpuire their profession, for it appeared to be their birthright."

"I should infer, from all that I can learn, that a war, either with Spain, or some of the Barbary powers, is by no means an improbable event; and that too at no far distant period."

PATERNAL INDULGENCE, AND JUVENILE PERVERSITY.

The following dreadful instance of the pernicious effects of excessive parental indulgence is related in Holcroft's Memoirs:

"His eldest son, William, was a boy of extraordinary capacity, and Mr. Holcroft thought no pains should be spared for his instruction and improvement. From the first however, he had shown an unsettled disposition, and his propensity to ramble was such from his childhood, that when he was only four years old, and under the care of an aunt at Nottingham, he wandered away to a place at some distance, where there was a coffee-house, into which he went, and read the newspapers to the company, by whom he was taken care of, and sent home. This propensity was so strong in him that it became habitual, and he had run away six or seven times before the last. Once, for instance, in 1786, when he was about thirteen, he had taken a little mare belonging to his father, and went to Northampton, where he was discovered by some respectable persons in the place, and word being sent to Mr. Holcroft, he went down and brought him home with him. On Sunday, Nov. 8th, 1786, he brought his father a short poem; his father conversed with him in the most affectionate manner, praised, encouraged, and told him, that, notwithstanding his former errors and wanderings, he was convinced he would become a good and excellent man. But he observed, taking him by the hand to express his kindness, that the hand of the youth, instead of returning the pressure as usual, remained cold and insensible. This however, at the moment, was supposed to be accidental. He seemed unembarassed cheerful, and asked leave, without any appearance of design or hesitation, to dine with a friend in the city, which was immediately granted. He thanked his father, went down stairs, and several times anxiously enquired whether his father was gone to dress. As soon as he was told that he had left his room, he went up stairs again, broke open a drawer, and took out forty pounds. With this, the watch, a pocket-book, and a pair of pistols of his father's, he hastened away to join one of his acquaintance, who was going to the West Indies. The name of this young person was G. He was immediately pursued to Gravesend, but ineffectually. It was not discovered till the following Wednesday, that he had taken the money. After several days of the most distressing inquietude, there appeared strong presumptive proofs that he, with his acquaintaance was on board the Fame, Capt. Carr, then lying in the Downs. The father and a friend immediately set off, and travelled post all night to Deal. There information proved true, for he was found on board the Fame' where he assumed a false name, though his true situation was known to the captain. He had spent all the money except 15*l* in paying for his passage. and purchasing what he thought he wanted. He had declared he would shoot any person who came to take him, but that if his father came, he would shoot himself.—His youth, for he was about sixteen, made the threat appear incredible. The pistol, pocket-book, and remaining money, was looked up for him by his acquaintance. But he had another pair of pistols concealed. Mr. Holcraft and his friend went on board, made enquiries, and understood he was there. He had retired into a dark part of the steerage. When he was called he did not answer, a light was sent for, and as he heard the ship's steward, some of the sailors, and his father approaching, conscious of what he had done, and unable to bear the presence of his father and the open shame of detection, he suddenly put an end to his existance."

AGREEABLY to Public Notice a Meeting of Delegates from the City and several townships of the County was held at the Inn of William Morrow, on Thursday the 5th instant:

Mr. THOMAS SNODGRASS was called to the Chair, and William Wilkins appointed Secretary.

It was resolved and agreed to support the following ticket at the approaching general election.

CONGRESS.
HENRY BALDWIN.

WILLIAM WOODS.
JOHN SNODGRASS,
JAMES BRISON,
JOHN GILMORE.
SHERRIFF.

William Findley, Esq. of Westmoreland county, declined a re-election to Congress.

We understand that capt. Hull, of the navy has volunteered his services to assist in the navigation of the Steam Boat, about to sail from New York to Russia.

We have received information from a correct source, that in the official account of the defeat of Bolivar as published at Caracas, it is stated that the force of Bolivar amounted to about 2500 men, 1000 of whom were killed or taken prisoners and the residue dispersed; that 1000 stand of small arms, with some cannon and howitzers, and all the ammunition, equipage and baggage including printing materials and a number of printed proclamations, were taken by the army under Morales.

A bill has passed the British Parliament, authorising the exportation of machinery for the erection of a mint, in the United States of America. The bill was introduced by Mr. Vansittast, the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It is said, that, at the last dates, the British funds had advanced 1 per cent; that confidence was returning among the merchants, and that there had not been a failure in London for 10 or 12 days.

Lord Exmouth was to leave England the last of July, to take the barbarians by the beard. Not only the town and fortress of Algiers are to be razed to the ground, but the government is to be demolished. We shall see or hear all about it!

TWO FACTS.

1st. When the war ended, the pay of our soldiers was reduced from 8 dollars to 5, per month, (agreeably to a previous law of Congress.)

2d. When the war ended, the pay of our members of Congress was increased from 180 to 360 per month.

These two facts taken together make a remarkable fact, which proves that persons alter cases, as well as circumstances.

SKELETON OF NEWS,

COLLATED FROM OUR FILES OF ENGLISH PAPERS.

☞ Dates to July 17.

It is said the Duke of Wellington took with him to England, a treaty signed by Louis 18th, on the 27th June;—the Rev. Dr. Watson, bishop of Landaff, much celebrated for his learning and piety, died in England, early in July, at the advanced age of 80; he is to be succeeded in the bishopric of Landaff by the reverend and learned Dr. Herbert Marsh;—the heavy rains in Holland have inundated a part of the country, overflowing many of the dykes; the crops, it is said, would be entirely destroyed:—Mr. Gallatin, American minister to the Court of France, arrived in Paris July 12, where an exchange of the ratifications of the Russian Treaty, with the U. States, would take place; the London Courier, in noticing this treaty, and the reported guarantee, by our government, of two ports in the Pacific Ocean, asks, "what Ports?" Really, we cannot say.—The most perfect good understanding subsists between the governments of Russia and Sweden; a short time since, the Emperor sent 200 silver crosses of the order of St. George, to be distributed among the meritorious, in the Swedish armies, in return for 200 honorary medals sent by the Crown Prince, to the Russian armies;—the Dutch fleet was at Gibraltar, and has been considerably augmented; while off Algiers, they had a smart brush with a squadron of 20 Algerine gunboats, who exhausted their ammunition in the wildest manner, without occasioning to the Dutch any loss whatever;—the three conspirators lately condemned to death in Paris, (Pleigner, Carbonneau and Tolleron) were to be conducted to the place of execution, in their shirts, barefooted, and the head covered with a black veil, to be exposed on the scaffold, while the officer read the decree, under which they are condemned, to have afterwards the hand cut off, and then to be immediately executed;—speaking of the expedition, now fitting out in England, against Algiers, one of the appers says, "at length the cries of indignant Europe have resounded in the English Parliament; the voice of outraged humanity has prevailed over false political considerations, and vengeance is about to reach the the pirates of the coast of Africa; the time is past, when Algiers, rich in the spoils of the christians, could say, in the avarice of her heart, 'I keep the sea under my laws, and the nations are my prey;' she is about to be attacked in her walls, like the bird of prey in her nest, dividing her booty among her little ones; Lord Exmouth is indeed destined to accomplish the prophecy of Bossuet."

[Boston Gazette,

INLAND NAVIGATION.

To the enquiry whether the completion of a canal from Erie to the Hudson would be likely to give us access to the lead mines of the Missouri Territory, (lately known as Upper Louisiana,) the Cayuaga Patriot gives this answer:

"It is an interesting fact, not generally known to the American public, that boats have occasionally passed from Lake Michigan into the Illinois, without being subjected to the trouble or necessity of unlading their cargoes—the waters of the Chicago and the former river both heading in a pond with two distinct outlets. In the speech of P. B. Porter, on the subject of internal navigation, 1810, mention is made of this fact.—Lieut. Hamilton of the U. S. army, is among the number of adventurers who have actually passed from the lakes into the Mississipyi by this route, and that wihout difficulty. A route nearly as practible exists between the waters of the St. Joseph, of Lake Michigan and the Theakaki, a branch of the Illinois."

ANOTHER BRIDGE.

Over the Susquehanna

It is a source of the highest gratification, to observe the spirit of improvement which is extending itself through the interior of our country. Wilds, where only a few years since, the noise of the owl and the wolf were heard, have given way to cultivated fields, and extensive turnpikes, are opened, where the warrior's lone path wound its serpentine way through the forest. The visions of a poetic fancy could with difficulty imagine a greater change, than a few of the last years have produced in the northern and western parts of Pennsylvania and New-York. Six years since, there was not a bridge over the Susquehanna in its whole course from the northern boundary of Pennsylvania to its mouth; and in one year, more it may boast as many bridges as the Rhine, which has washed the feet of Imperial Cities for two-thousand years. Lewis Wernwag esq. the Architect who constructed the beautiful bridge over the Schuylkill, at the upper ferry, opposite the city of Philadelphia, has contracted to build a bridge over the Susquehanna at this place, upon the same model of the excellent bridge over the Delaware at New Hope, of which he was the inventor and constructor, This bridge is to be commenced immediately, and to be passable by the first of November, 1817. It is to consist of four arches, of one hundred and eighty-five feet each, and will be erected opposite centre street.

In this contract, the public have the most ample assurance of the faithful performanance of a work, which will be an ornament and a valuable acquisition to our country.

Messrs. Bosler & Co.

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT and FAMILY MEDICINE STORE, New-York,

A FRESH SUPPLY OF THE FOLLOWING

GENUINE MEDICINES.

Dr HAMILTON'S

Grand Restorative.

Prepared (only) by H. LEE, No. 56, Maiden Lane, New-York.

The proprietor of HAMILTON'S RESTORATIVE DROPS confidently recommends it as an invaluable medicine, for the speedy relief and cure of permanent

Nervous Disorders	Violent Cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of Spirits	Melancholy
Loss of Appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of Blood	Pains in the Limbs
Hysterical Affections	Relaxations, &c
Inward Weaknesses

This Medicine is perfectly different in its qualities and operation from those hot and irritating sanap so frequently proposed for similar purposes, which only recommend themselves by the dangerous rapidity of their effects—and which, acting as a temporary, but violent stimulus on the nervous system, infalibly produces greater evils than those which they are intended to remove.

The principal operation of this medicine is in the stomach, restoring the digestive power, and sending from that organ new health and vigor into every part of the system; it enriches and purifies the blood without stimulating, too violently, the nervous system; strengthens the secretory vessels and general habits, brings back the muscular fibres to their natural and healthy tone, and restores that autrition which immoderate evacuations have destroyed, and whose loss had thrown the whole frame into languor and debility.

The restorative is absolutely above all commendation in removing those weaknesses and infirmities with which many females are afflicted, the consequences of difficult and painful labours, or of injudicious treatment therein.

In cases of extremity, where the long prevalence and obstinacy of disease have brought on a general impoverisement of the system, excessive debility of the whole frame, and a wasting of the flesh, which no nourishment or cordial could repair.

The Grand Restorative is prepared in Pills, as well as in fluid form, which assists considerably in producing a gradual and lasting effect.

HAMILTON'S
Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions of foulness in the stomach and bowels.

It prevents Chilblains or Chopped Hands, and the ill effects of getting wet or damp in the feet.

THE GENUINE PERSIAN LOTION,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, in preventing and removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

THE RESTORATIVE POWDER,
For the Teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts & strengthhens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which, suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

Celebrated for the cure of colds, obstinate [illegible]ghs, asthmas, and approaching consumptions, [illegible]certain remedy for the whooping cough.

and a [illegible]

CURE FOR COUGHS, COLDS, &c.
Hamilton's Elixir,

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, Sore Throats, and aproaching Consumptions, and most disordes of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluid to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and give strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present some of its painful effects.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTON'S ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocaton. Add to these a constant pain in my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advise of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamilton's Elixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it to do much good A bottle was procured from Mr. Birch's, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.
